

TIGERHOMES SANCTUARY – WHITE TIGER HABITAT

Meet "Loki" TigerHomes male resident White Tiger or "Warrior of Mischief". Aptly named, Loki is an extremely rare White Siberian Tiger with a mischievous demeanor. Here you see Loki lounging in the off-cam Tiger Habitat. Centered between this shaded area and the primary Tiger habitat you see on TigerHomes Cams are relay switching stations used to transfer and exchange animals. Their secondary habitats are shaded with elevated side platforms for resting and offers shelter from the elements. It is interesting to note the size of this secondary habitat alone is much larger than is required to keep tigers permanently! When you do not see Loki or Tundra, his female companion on Cam this is where you will find them.

Loki, a formidable top predator is one of the largest tigers living at the Sanctuary. Loki came to the Sanctuary as a cub and was hand-reared and formed a lasting bond with Dave & Jason. Due to proper expert handling and the nature of his disposition, Loki is easy to work with but is always treated with the respect due a dangerous Wild animal. Nicknamed the "Lokster" by some of the Sanctuary's Gold Sponsors, you can often find Loki demonstrating his "mischief skills" climbing palm trees, knocking down coconuts or dipping palm fronds in his water. In general, this Big Cat likes to play! Loki was featured in TigerHomes own Educational "Power Cats" DVD.

TIGERHOMES SANCTUARY – WHITE TIGER HABITAT

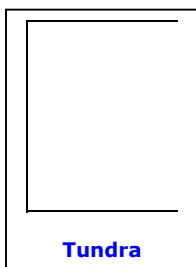

“Tiger Greetings” from Tundra!

Here you see a BIG TIGER WELCOME! WHAT A FACE! This is Tundra, TigerHomes female White Siberian Tiger entering the large Tiger Habitat from the relay station. She sets off immediately to explore her territory. You see their beauty but you can actually “feel their power”. It is an incredible and awesome experience to stand before them. Visits are a rare privilege and it is preferred that way since the Sanctuary is private and the animals have peace & quiet with no daily parade of visitors. With TigerHomes Webcams we can watch them all day without disturbing them! Dave recently installed Night Lights in the White Tiger habitat for great evening viewing.

White Tigers have fascinated and intrigued mankind for centuries becoming icons for power & beauty and are often regarded as symbols of purity. Tundra was sponsored and donated to the Sanctuary by Dorsey Levens, of Green Bay Packer fame. He gave her the name “Tundra”, or so we thought for their home range of the Siberian tundra but found more recently it was for the Packers frozen football playing field! Tundra celebrated her 6th birthday on July 4th this year. Both White Tigers, Loki and Tundra are thoroughly enjoying their habitat upgrade with sod earlier this spring. Tundra can be sassy, she likes to be the “boss” and relishes testing Loki’s patience. Tundra was also featured in TigerHomes own Educational “Power Cats” DVD. You can see her characteristics shining through right here in this photo!

As with the Sanctuary’s Golden Tigers, the White Tigers are a color variation from the standard black/orange Siberian coat. Estimates are that there are less than 200 White Tigers in existence today, all in captivity. None are known in the wild. The White Tiger is not a separate subspecies and this color morph is included in the Endangered status given to all Siberian Tigers.

Tundra is available for Adoption and needs Sponsors! Tundra is one of the many Animal Ambassadors at the Sanctuary. Her glossy photo is available to help support daily care of the animals & further TigerHomes Educational Mission to increase awareness and conservation efforts for their cousins in the wild.

TIGERHOMES SANCTUARY – “GOLIATH” – South African Boerboel

Now we have a special treat and also the newest member of TigerHomes Sanctuary. Goliath! Goliath is at 4 months, 55 lbs. of PUPPY. He is a male of the breed “South African Boerboel”. Goliath was donated to the Sanctuary by one of Dave’s very good friends. Similar in appearance to a Bull-Mastiff, this dog is more structurally sound with differences in head shape, pasterns, and over angulations. The South African Boerboel Syrian ancestry lineage dating from 700 BC and back to Babylon during the days of the Persian empire.

Goliath is being groomed as a “working dog” for the Sanctuary. Many South African Farmers keep Boerboel’s on property as their temperament is very docile yet turns instantly to ferocious if a family member is threatened. Goliath will serve the Sanctuary and Dave well and he now too has found a permanent home.

Needless to say 55 pounds of puppy with the softest fur coat you ever felt and “puppy-dog eyes” is very precious. Have to say Max, the Sanctuary’s “top dog”, an Alaskan Husky enjoys taking Goliath under his “paws” for now. One day Goliath will outweigh Max by no less than ~100 lbs~!
